Re: Shady Brook Farms® Products for K12 School Districts

Shady Brook Farms® Customer,

Ongoing supply chain challenges are placing increased pressure on Cargill to be a USDA commodity processor of turkey who can consistently meet the needs of our valued K12 customers. Therefore, Cargill has made the decision to discontinue commodity processing of turkey and, as a result, its current portfolio of K12 Shady Brook Farms® branded products will no longer be available. Implications of this strategic choice are outlined below.

For the 2022-23 School Year, Cargill remains fully committed to supplying K12 school districts with awarded/forecasted volumes of Shady Brook Farms® turkey products for SY22-23, including USDA commodity processing of these items. Yet due to the tightened supply chain, our current customers, across all foodservice channels, may regrettably experience shortages through the end of the calendar year. Orders from districts who have diverted commodity pounds to Cargill, and have provided forecasts, will be prioritized.

This change does not impact Cargill's Sunny Fresh® eggs, which will continue to engage with the K12 segment commercially and as a USDA commodity processor.

Please contact your local Cargill or KeyImpact Sales Representative with questions. Thank you for your continued support of Cargill and our portfolio of products.

Sincerely,

Deli & Cooked Meats Business Team
